

Lesson 3

The Birthmark

I. 文意字彙與詞類變化：36%

- trace 1. As the mist cleared, there was no t of the mysterious ship that had been spotted earlier.
- reluctantly 2. Tom attended the family reunion r y, as he knew that he would face countless questions about his career.
- shivered 3. Sarah s red with excitement as she opened her college acceptance letter.
- concentration 4. John's lack of c n in class resulted in poor test scores.
- regretted 5. Ben r ted not learning how to swim as he watched his friends enjoying themselves in the cool, clear lake.
- stubborn 6. Despite the rain, Lisa was s n about having the picnic outdoors.
- restored 7. John breathed a sigh of relief when the doctor said there was a possibility that his sight could be r ed.
- hardly 8. The shy student rarely spoke in class, so his teacher could h y believe it when he volunteered to lead the group project.
- graceful 9. The calligrapher's handwriting was _____ (grace); each of her Chinese characters was a work of art in itself.
- sincerity 10. The child's smile was filled with such _____ (sincere) that it immediately brightened everyone's mood.
- description 11. The travel book gives a detailed _____ (describe) of the island and some of the things you can do there.
- frustrated 12. Esther's inability to solve the puzzle yesterday _____ (frustration) her deeply.

II. 文法選擇：15%

- (D) 1. As Kevin left the classroom, he felt quite certain that he _____ well on the examination.
(A) does (B) has done (C) can do (D) had done
- (C) 2. I'm not sure _____ Aaron will support our proposal or not.
(A) what (B) which (C) whether (D) where
- (A) 3. Pay close attention to this. _____ care you take, _____ mistakes you'll make.
(A) The less; the more (B) Less; more
(C) As little; as many (D) Less than; more than
- (B) 4. Judy lay awake all night, _____ the events of the day.
(A) recalled (B) recalling (C) who recalled (D) she recalled
- (C) 5. The crowd watched the brave firefighter _____ the burning building.
(A) to enter (B) would enter (C) enter (D) had entered

III. 綜合測驗：15%

Nathaniel Hawthorne's "The Birthmark" is a short story about a scientist named Aylmer. Aylmer loves his wife, Georgiana, very much. 1., Georgiana has a small hand-shaped birthmark on her face. Aylmer hates this birthmark, believing that it spoils Georgiana's beauty. Thus, one day, he asks Georgiana 2. him to remove the birthmark.

Georgiana agrees, and Aylmer sets to work on creating a special potion to make the birthmark 3.. When Georgiana drinks this, the birthmark does indeed begin to 4. away. But at the same time, Georgiana's health starts to fail. In the end, while her birthmark disappears completely, her life also 5..

This story shows the dangers of chasing perfection and of attempting to change nature through science. It also suggests that as humans, we must accept that we cannot be perfect and that having faults is a natural part of life.

- (B) 1. (A) Still (B) However (C) Similarly (D) Therefore
- (D) 2. (A) that she would like (B) would she like
(C) she would like (D) whether she would like

- (A) 3. (A) disappear (B) disappears (C) disappeared (D) disappearing
 (C) 4. (A) depart (B) confess (C) fade (D) explain
 (D) 5. (A) flies into a rage (B) takes off (C) speeds up (D) slips away

IV. 句型練習：16%

(1-2 題以 had + p.p. 合併句子)

1. { The students finished their group discussion at 8:50 a.m.
 { The teacher showed up at 9:00 a.m. (...before....)

The students had finished their group discussion before the teacher showed up.

2. { All the passengers were rescued first.
 { The ambulance (救護車) finally arrived later. (...when....)

All the passengers had been rescued when the ambulance finally arrived.

(3-4 題以 if/whether + S + V 合併句子)

3. { I don't know.
 { Catherine returned home after the concert ended. (...if....)

I don't know if Catherine returned home after the concert ended.

4. { Steve is wondering.
 { He will find a solution to the problem. (...whether....)

Steve is wondering whether he will find a solution to the problem (or not).

V. 引導式翻譯：9%

1. 你最好把你的房間打掃乾淨。裡面都是垃圾。

You'd better clean up your room. It is filled with garbage.

2. Joey 答應每週都會打電話給他的母親，而從那時起，他從未錯過一通星期日的電話。

Joey promised to phone his mother every week, and from then on,
 he never missed a Sunday call.

3. 暫且擱下你手邊的工作，聽好我要告訴你的話。

Put aside your work for a minute and listen to what I have to tell you.

4. 我對這份工作沒有興趣。一方面，薪水不高；另一方面，通勤時間太長。

I'm not interested in the job. For one thing, the pay isn't great, and for another, the commute is too long.

VI. 閱讀測驗：9%

Nathaniel Hawthorne is known for writing the famous novel The Scarlet Letter. But not many people know the following interesting facts about him.

First, Nathaniel Hawthorne made a lifelong friend in college. His name was Franklin Pierce, and they met at Bowdoin College in the 1820s. Later in life, Franklin Pierce ran for president of the United States, and Hawthorne wrote a special book to help Pierce win the election. Some people didn't like this, and Hawthorne lost some connections* because of it. But when Pierce became president in 1853, he gave his old school friend a special consul job in England so that he could have more time to write books.

Another interesting fact about Nathaniel Hawthorne is that he was also friends with another famous writer Herman Melville. They met when Hawthorne lived in Lenox, Massachusetts. Melville was writing a book called Moby-Dick at the time and asked Hawthorne for help. Hawthorne's advice was so good that Herman dedicated the book to him! He even wrote a special note to thank Hawthorne for being such a great friend and mentor.

註：connections 人脈；情誼

- (D) 1. What is the passage mainly about?
- (A) Nathaniel Hawthorne's famous books and their stories.
 - (B) Franklin Pierce's career and his impact on Nathaniel Hawthorne.
 - (C) Melville's book Moby-Dick and its connection to Nathaniel Hawthorne.
 - (D) Some friendships Nathaniel Hawthorne had and how they affected his life.
- (B) 2. What can be inferred about Hawthorne's influence on Melville's work?
- (A) Hawthorne and Melville wrote the novel Moby-Dick together.
 - (B) Melville found Hawthorne's advice valuable and inspirational.
 - (C) Hawthorne helped Melville write several chapters of Moby-Dick.
 - (D) Melville disagreed with Hawthorne's suggestions for Moby-Dick.
- (D) 3. According to the passage, why did Nathaniel Hawthorne lose some connections?
- (A) He moved to England to write more books.
 - (B) He criticized Franklin Pierce in his writings.
 - (C) He stopped writing after Franklin Pierce became president.
 - (D) He wrote a book to support Franklin Pierce's presidential campaign.